COUNTY FAIR PREMIUM LISTS ARE RELEASED

With the release of premium lists for the 1939 San Diego County Fair to be held at Del Mar, July 1 to 4, the directors today urged residents of the county to make early applications for display space at this year's event.

While premiums offered total more than $16,000.00, which is a substantial increase over the 1938 awards, space in most departments has been limited and the entries will be closed when the capacity has been reached according to the fair management.

Holding top honors in awards is the livestock departments where cash prizes totaling $6545.00 have been set up. Other departments offering larger sums of money are agriculture and horticulture with $2718.00; floriculture with $1433.25 and domestic science with a total of $1368.50.

Chambers of commerce and other civic bodies are afforded the opportunity to advertise their community and compete for $375.00 in cash awards. Subordinate grange and farm centers also have a cash incentive to prepare group exhibits, $120.00 being offered in four awards.

With many business firms already applying for space, it now appears that the industrial building will be sold out for the first time in the fair's history. Attractive displays are planned affording fair visitors an opportunity to see the many nationally known products manufactured or sold in this county. Business organizations desiring space in the industrial building are urged to contact the fair management as soon as possible.

Premium lists covering the various departments have been mailed to exhibitors of past fairs and also will be available for reference at the various chambers of commerce throughout the county. Premium offerings may also be obtained by contacting the County Office at Del Mar, stating what particular department is desired. This is necessary as the premium list this year is compiled in separate sections.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES

The Goodwill Industries of this county have disbursed $9,232.44 in wages to needy and physically handicapped persons during the past three months, according to the report of Supt. Myron Insko, just submitted to the board of directors. The average number employed daily was 50. The depression has been keenly felt at the Goodwill and there is great need for larger quantities of castoff articles and materials to keep the staff engaged.

Leona Stephenson celebrated her 15th birthday Monday evening at her home on River street by entertaining a few of her friends at an evening of games.

Marcks Memorial Unveiled Friday

The memorial monument and flag pole erected to the memory of Otto Marcks and which has been previously described in these columns, was fittingly dedicated in an impressive ceremony at the school grounds last Friday afternoon. The day was chilly and a cold wind prevented the attendance of many who wished to be present.

The principal address was given by Francis M. De Weese while L. G. Scott and others made short talks. The program as given was as follows:

March, led by Lakeside band, and in the line were the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ladies Auxiliary, and Grammar School Students.

Dedication Address by Francis M. De Weese.

Presentation of Flag by V.F. W.

Acceptance of Flag, Don Nelson

Raising of Flag, Garland Reeder and Eddie Ames.

Record Breaking Crowd Expected at Rodeo April 30

Arrangements for Lakeside's next Rodeo which will be staged on Sunday, April 30, are rapidly taking form and the manager, Tom LaMadrid believes that he is getting into shape one of the best programs ever staged here and that is saying a lot because Lakeside has a reputation for putting on the best in rodeo entertainment.

One of the big attractions this time is a nineteen year old cow girl who has been riding in rodeos since she was twelve years old and has given worthy performances in many western states. Her name is Jane Burnett and she is engaged at the present time in making wild west pictures at Hollywood. Her performance will be a major attraction.

Another popular attraction of last year will be repeated in the act by an educated pony handled by little Beverly Ann Davies. Her act last year was so well liked and received that a return engagement has been arranged because of a popular demand for her act.

When it comes to the real cow boy acts and bronc riding the top knotchers of the game in the west will show their stuff. Bringing some of the best pronco busters in the west to compete with the toughest bucking horses obtainable is all but an iron clad guarantee of a top knotch exhibition.

But we should not over look the fact that Lakeside has eight or ten local boys who are not professional but are most always on the list of prize winners. The show is more interesting to those who know some of the contestants personally.

Due to the fact that this is just a one day show this time it is expected that the crowd will be made up of rodeo fans from all over Southern California and Arizona and that the capacity of the stands will be taxed to the limit.

GAS COMPANY PLANS SPRING FAIR AT BALBOA PARK

What promises to be one of the most colorful shows held in the West, opens its doors to the people of San Diego County, Tuesday, the 25th of April at 6:00 p. m. in the Palace of Better Housing, Balboa Park. Over fifty manufacturers and distributors of appliances, equipment and services designed to improve the comforts of the modern home, have cooperated to present a "Preview to Modern Living" that will give the public an opportunity to be the first to witness the latest improvements in modern home conveniences in the finest show produced in this area.

Because of the outstanding success of this fair in recent years, several Eastern manufacturers have seen fit to make the premier introduction of the latest improvements and developments of their products at this fair. New innovations in home convenience, the latest in mechanical household servants, the most modern ideas of kitchen "Streamlining," the latest developments in "comfort conditioning" every room in the house will be on display. Without doubt, the products shown will be the most varied along electrical and mechanical lines, ever shown under one roof, in Southern California.

The show will be punctuated with fine entertainment while nightly radio broadcasts will be made from the show auditorium and floor. A totally new and different decorative scheme will outdo all previous attempts to inject an atmosphere of spring into the fair, thus establishing the precedent as being the most beautiful fair of its kind on record.

Sponsored by the Bureau of Radio and Electrical Appliances, the fair will be open, admission free, to the public from 6:00 p. m. to 10:30 p. m., Tuesday, April 25th, through Friday, while on Saturday and Sunday, April 29th and 30th, the doors will be open at noon. It is expected that all former attendance records will be broken with an anticipated six day attendance of nearly 100,000 people.

PARADISE VALLEY SANITARIUM PREPARES FOR BIG DAY, MAY 12

Construction started this week on booths that will house medical exhibits for National Hospital Day, May 12, at Paradise Valley Sanitarium and Hospital, National City, it was announced this week by A. C. Larson, manager of the institution.

Using as its theme for this year's program, a comparison of modern medical science and medicine as it is practiced in other less civilized countries, officials of the hospital are planning an elaborate program with which they hope to make a successful bid for the National Hospital Day award, an honor which they have won for the past two successive years in competition with hospitals in United States and Canada.

Allene Head Given Valedictorian Honor

Allene Head has consistently, through the years, taken high rank in her classes. Her lovely modesty would never permit her to tell you this, or even to hint it; but every pupil, as well as the teachers, have known of her high rank in ability. It sometimes happens that the pupil who is highest in achievement isn't the one who is best fitted to be Valedictorian of the graduating class, citizenship and attitudes must also be taken into consideration.

The teachers, therefore, take the entire class into their confidence and their conferences; and ask them to assist in choosing the class Valedictorian and other honor students who appear on the commencement program. The judgment of a class is usually very good. Our graduating class expresses its opinion in a secret ballot which was held last week. They selected Allene Head, overwhelmingly, as the class Valedictorian.

We don't like to talk too much about the virtues of any particular individual; but we must say for Allene that she is thoroughly deserving of the high honor that has come to her. She is not only an excellent student but she is an ideal citizen—a girl of good judgment, considerate, courteous and fair.

It should be said in passing that there are some others who rank very high, and who also are deserving of honor; but you know a choice must be made, and certainly no mistake has been made in this selection.

Two other honors were bestowed at the same time. Marian Merrill was chosen as salutatorian and Wayne Davis as class Historian. In almost the same degree everything said about Allene applies also to Marian and Wayne. They are a trio of fine citizens, and the school will be proud to be represented by them on the graduation program. —The Static.

Herbert Marcks Sends His Regrets

Moreno, California, April 12, 1939

Mr. Stanley Conant, Chairman

Dear Mr. Conant:

I received your welcome letter this evening and I beg to say with deep regret that I cannot be present at the ceremony of the unveiling of the monument being dedicated to my beloved brother, Otto.

However, I will assure you all, that I will be present in the Spirit of the occasion and I want to extend my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the chairman of the committee and the many staunch and loyal friends and people of Lakeside and vicinity.

I realize that this memorial being built of firm stone represents as firm a love and friendship and appreciation as serious almost as kinship.

A love and sincere friendship that reaches and endures far beyond the portals of life's last sunset. And I am sure that my dear brother, Otto, as he looks back across the veil into your hearts, that he deeply feels and welcomes the love and warmth and friendship that you send out to him in everlasting memory this day, and which you have crystallized in this fitting memorial in his honor.

Again I thank you all in deepest sympathy,

Herbert Henry Marcks.

TELEPHONE COMPANY TO CANCELL HAND SET CHARGE AFTER JULY 1

N. R. Powley, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Southern California Telephone Company, announced today that the companies would meet the request of the California Railroad Commission that the additional hand set charge in their exchanges in California be discontinued effective with bills issued to subscribers on and after July 1, 1939.

"Discontinuing this charge in our California exchanges," stated Powley, "will mean a reduction in annual gross revenues of about $250,000. In addition, our capital and other expenditures will be increased substantially because the change will result in the premature retirement of many thousands of telephones of the portable desk set type and the purchase of thousands of additional telephones of the hand set type. We estimate," stated Powley, "that the cost of the additional hand sets to be purchased will amount to not less than $450,000.

"Our wage and tax expenses continue to rise—both are at the highest level in the history of the business. Every effort is being made, on the part of the management, to meet these increasing costs and to keep the company in a sound financial condition. The additional charge for hand sets was placed in effect to assist not only in controlling costs and investment but also in aiding in maintaining the lowest possible over-all level of rates. The hand set charge has been reduced from time to time and the monthly charge is now only 10 cents for twelve months of continuous service.

"While it would be most helpful to the company in meeting its present responsibilities to retain this revenue and not incur the increase in capital costs and other expenditures, we desire to avoid a formal and costly rate procedure in this matter. We are, therefore, meeting the expressed desires of the California Railroad Commission and in accordance also with our previously announced policy that we would ultimately discontinue the charge, we are filing tariffs with the Commission making the change effective with bills issued to subscribers on and after July 1, 1939."

Which Way is North?

C. C. Y.

In the last six years the United States has lost more than half of its foreign market for cotton. From 1922 to 1932 this country exported an average of 8,000,000 bales of cotton each year. Since 1932 the export of cotton has steadily declined until in 1938 we exported only 3,800,000 bales, which is the lowest in the last 50 years. This means that the cotton production is doomed in this country except for what the domestic market can consume. The only way that we can export cotton is to put the price down so low that foreign competition cannot meet it, and then it cannot be profitably produced in this country as we cannot compete with cheap foreign labor. The first thing we know foreign grown cotton will be shipped into this country and placed on the market at a price cheaper than we can produce it, and then we will see what will happen to the American cotton growers. It is high time that American products be given right of way in American markets.

The German nazis are denouncing President Roosevelt as a "meddler" and are asking for the establishment of a "Monroe Doctrine" for southeastern Europe.

A movement is under consideration in Congress to wipe out all government agencies in the nature of WPA, PWA, CCC, and NYA, and combine them all into a new public works agency to be established as a permanent department of the government. Such a move should cut the cost of the administration of relief and be an improvement over the present set-up.

Another time honored American institution, the circus, is fast passing into only memory. During the war or just following the war there were 20 large circuses operating in this country. Last year the number had dwindled to six who started the 1938 season and of them only two finished the season. The other four going broke in mid season due to labor trouble. This year there are only two large circuses in the business in this entire country and they are Ringlings and Coles.

Forty-one people were killed in tornadoes in the middle west Sunday which is something very unusual for this early in the season. May and June are the ordinary tornado months. Out here on the same day we had earthquakes in this county and over in the Imperial valley but they were so slight that we would not have known about them had we not read it in the newspapers.

President Roosevelt's appeal to the nations of the world for a ten year moratorium against war was a worthy jesture but nothing can come from it, much as we hope it could. Germany and Italy have been preparing for this very moment for the past twenty years and nothing is going to stop them on their empire building march except some greater force than they can muster. The trouble is that the President's speech actually announced to the world that in case of another European war the United States expected to be right in the middle of it, when we should be using every means within our power to keep out of another war in Europe, should it come.

Well, old Jack Roper made a good showing against Joe Louis at Wrigley Field, Monday night, even if he did last only two minutes and 20 seconds. He got Joe on the chin with a couple of lefts and that is more than Max Schmeling or John Henry Lewis did in Joe's last two fights. The search for a white hope goes on.

The results of advertising are sometimes hard to explain as once in a while one plan is successful and then at some other time the same plan fails. For instance, news items carry the report that a certain radio dealer put on a special sale and placed in his display window, 10 one-dollar bills each with a price tag which read "Original Price $1; sale price 25 cents." The queer part of it was that only three people took advantage of the bargain. Had he placed the ad in his community newspaper he would have realized results altogether different.

It is comforting, in some degree at least, to learn that the Congress of the United States which has the power to declare war is making a determined stand to keep us out of war and are urging a strictly neutral position. As one Congressman put it "we need not go into a foreign war unless we choose to. Then let us hope that we will not "choose to."

* * *

The organization of the WPA workers into a union is a triumph for the Reds of Russia, our congress was told the other day. When our unemployed go in for organizing a union it is high time that they be given an opportunity to secure employment from private citizens who are the best employers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Probation after Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. This verse from the Psalms constitutes the Golden Text: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

A Scriptural selection in the Lesson-Sermon includes these words of Paul to the Ephesians: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; . . . Proving what is acceptable unto the Lord. And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." These verses from Colossians are also presented: "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Jesus said substantially, 'He that believeth in me shall not see death.' That is, he who perceives the true idea of Life loses his belief in death. He who has the true idea of good loses all sense of evil, and by reason of this is being ushered into the undying realities of Spirit. . . . Jesus gave the true idea of being, which results in infinite blessings to mortals."

Donnie Ashfield was a recent guest of Dewey Paul and Joey Rochleau of San Diego and his hosts returned to his Lakeside Farms home with him for the Easter vacation. Each day found the young group enjoying a picnic or a day at the beach or zoo chaperoned by Mrs. Jessie B. Ashfield.

MOTOR VIEWS & NEWS

WITH New York and San Francisco each offering a tempting Fair to the public, a recent motoring survey indicates that all previous records for summer mileage throughout the country will be broken this year. Predicted figures set 9,000,000 as the number of cars, each carrying 2.5 passengers, which will head for the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. The average round trip is expected to cover 2,000 miles, which totals to an imposing average of 18,000,000,000 car miles, 45,000,000,000 passenger miles, and more black ink items on the ledgers of gasoline producers and stations, mechanics, tire dealers, tourist accommodations and roadside stands.

New York State may be the next to fall in line with compulsory motor inspection laws, three such bills already pending at Albany. The most likely measure, introduced by Senator Swartz, provides for two inspections yearly and for State and county authorization for inspection stations, as is in force in nearby New Jersey. Results in the latter state, after more than a year of compulsory inspection, have been effective in reducing accident hazards by eliminating most of the defective brakes and cutting down the number of cars with front lights missing. Several New York motoring groups have registered objections to any law which would add to motoring costs, because of the large diversion of gasoline taxation in the state.

A typically twentieth century angle to archeology is found in the announcement of Professor Arthur Upham Pope, director of the American Institute for Iranian Art and Archeology, concerning his twelfth expedition to Iran and Afghanistan. He plans to cover 7,000 miles through swamps and mountain countryside with a one-and-a-half ton truck pulling a fully equipped trailer. The truck is fitted with a special panel body and a two-speed axle. This is a long cry from the stereotype slow-moving mule or foot safaris.

After long experience in watching many motor gadgets and accessories fail to live up to their claims, only those devices which can absolutely prove beforehand that they work deserve mention. Such a one is the differential dual wheel, made at present for use by trucks, busses and trailers, with possibilities for expansion into the pleasure car field. It differs from the rigid dual combination in that both wheels of the pair are so attached that each one can revolve at its own rate of speed and on its own arc in a turn. At the same time it fits all standard axles. This differential feature results in the elimination of unnecessary tractional drag which in turn leads to economies in vehicle operation and to greater safety. The savings are made possible by an increase of up to 300 per cent in the life of tire treads and a decrease in gas consumption as much as twenty per cent. Greater safety is due to the lesser chances of blow-outs, jackknifing and skidding. The Fruehauf Trailer Company, in this case, was two steps ahead of the field and was the first to jump at this invention. As a result, it has obtained complete distribution rights.

With spring-cleaning fervor in the air, it would be a wise move on the part of automobile owners to bring their cars to the nearest service station for check-up and possible treatment. A part in time saves nine.

If you have any motor or traffic problems, Mr. Sutter will be glad to answer your inquiries addressed in care of this paper.

The Farmer's Corner

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Walter Lippman, in a recent newspaper article, made this challenging and highly significant statement:

"Unless democracy is to commit suicide by consenting to its own destruction, it will have to find some formidable answer to those who come to it saying: 'I demand from you in the name of your principles the rights which I shall deny you later in the name of my principles.' "

In light of recent disclosures of Communist influence in the administration of relief in California—and in light of the continued difficulties which farmers and farm workers have had with Communists, masquerading as labor organizers—that statement is deserving of serious consideration. For it serves to focus attention on the inescapable fact that Fascists and Communists alike—both determined to destroy American democracy, if it lies within their power—are taking advantage of the inherent privileges of a democracy to carry on their subversive activities.

It is a revealing index to the twisted philosophy of these radical agitators—whether they be radical rightists or leftists, Nazis or Communists—that they will loudly and heatedly demand free speech, freedom of assemblage and other democratic privileges guaranteed by the United States Constitution, even while they are working desperately to make converts for governmental doctrines which mock at librety and would subordinate the individual to the will of the dictator.

And to cap the climax, recent revelations before Assembly and Senate investigating committees have brought forth the amazing disclosures that avowed Communists—pledged, by their very affiliations, to the overthrow of American government—have worked their way into positions of responsibility in State government, via the relief administration, and that others are leaders of the Worker's Alliance, chiefly composed of relief recipients who are dependent upon government charity.

To California farmers, who carry their full share of the relief load, and who have more than their share of difficulties with radical agitators bent on spreading dissension among farm workers, a condition which permits enemies of American government to become employees and officials of the government—whether State or national—is utterly beyond justification.

And to most California farmers, it is equally unthinkable that the Worker's Alliance, or any other organization, should be permitted to "organize" relief recipients and exact dues from them—taken from public tax funds—to finance any high pressure drives on the Legislature and government officials for bigger relief payments.

There have been ugly charges before the Legislature that radical organizations have such complete control of the relief administration that the poor and destitute were given to understand they must "join up" if they expected to receive government aid. There were other charges that State social workers who failed to embrace the "new philosophy," or pay their dues to a CIO union, were fired, demoted or transferred to other positions. And there were still other charges that relief recipients who had shown the proper interest in the "new philosophy" doctrines were favored with bigger relief payments.

It would seem high time, under the circumstances, for the Legislature and the State administration to make a thorough-going inquiry. More than that, if democratic principles and principles of common decency and fair play mean anything, it is high time to root out of State service every Communist and every radical of any persuasion who, by his affiliations, is opposed to the government he has sworn to uphold and protect.

The Constitution guarantees free speech to every American, regardless of his views, unless he engages in subversive activities. But certainly neither State government nor federal government can afford to employ as government servants those who would use their trust to undermine American institutions. Nor can the State afford to see dole payments measured out on the basis of whether the hungry and unfortunate wear the right union buttons.

The Legislature, before it adjourns, should give assurance to the people of California that radical influence has been erased from the relief administration—and that relief payments are being made on a basis of need, rather than on a basis of dues paid to support radical agitators.
